We are also competent for food service and institutional packs.

NEED OF GOOD FOOD WITHOUT PRESERVATIVES

The food processing industry has matured over the years with an impressive record on safety and a vibrant marketplace for new product development. Consumer demands for high-quality products has inspired researchers and the food industry to explore alternative methods as replacement for traditional processing methods.

Retort is a process that uses heat and pressure to sterilize food in a strong and sealed package. The retort process uses water or steam/air combination as a processing medium to heat the container/packages. Temperature and pressure inside the retort is closely monitored at each segment of process.

Thanks to this amazing technology, the shelf life of all our food products is around 18 months.

“Proudly announcing another outstanding milestone for Fazlani Foods product excellence”

The “Superior Taste Award” is the only stamp of quality in taste granted by food and drink opinion leaders that are Michelin Chefs and Sommeliers. The iTQi Jury, regrouping 17 different nationalities, is composed of members of prestigious culinary institutions.
